The cover is decorated with a traditional marbled paper pattern, often called a 'stone' or 'shell' pattern, featuring large, irregular, light-colored patches with dark, speckled centers, separated by a network of dark, reddish-brown veins. The spine of the book, visible on the left, is made of a textured, gold-colored material. A small, white, rectangular label is affixed to the lower part of the spine, displaying the number '4335.227'. Below this, a red rectangular label with white text reads 'Research Library'.

My dear Mr. Hutchinson

I have your letter of the 19th inst.

Ancestral Line of Bethuel Harris.

WILLIAM HARRIS,¹ THOMAS HARRIS¹ and a sister who married Thomas Roberts of Newport, Rhode Island, and died there. Childless.

WILLIAM HARRIS,¹ born at Deal, Kent County, England. He came to America with his brother Thomas and Rev. Roger Williams in ship Lion ("Lyon") from Bristol, England in 1632.* First came to Massachusetts Plantation or Colony, and later going from Salem to Providence, R. I., with Roger Williams. Married and had four children. Andrew² married Mary Tew. Toleration² killed in 1675. Mary² married Thomas Borden. Howlong² married Arthur Fenner.

*Bradford's History of Plimoth Plantation, p. 357, Anno Dom. 1632. p. 363-4. "This year, Mr. William Perce came into ye country & brought goods and passengers in a ship caled ye Lyon." "But it pleased God this ship being first to goe to Virginia before she went home, was cast away on ye coast, not farr from Virginia."

P. 369-70, Record of 1633. "Mr. Roger Williams, (a man godly and zealous, having many precious parts, but very unsettled in judgmente) came over first to ye Massachusetts, but upon some discontente left ye place and came hither, (wher he was friedly entertained, according to their poor abilitie) and exercised his gifts amongst them, & after some time was admitted a member of ye church, and his teaching well approved for ye benefit wherof. I still blese God, and am thankfull to him even for his sharpest admonitions & reproofs, so farr as they agreed with truth. He this year begane to fall into some strange opinions, and from opinion to practise which caused some controversie betweene ye church & him, and in ye end some discontente on his parte by occasion wherof he left them some thing abruptly. Yet afterwards sued for his admission to ye church of Salem, which was granted, with some caution to them concerning him and what care they ought to have of him but he soone fell into more things ther, both to their and ye governments troble and disturbance. I shall not need to name particulars, they are too well known now to all, though for a time ye church here wente under some hard censure by his occasion by some that afterwards smarted themselves. But he is to be pitied and prayed for, and so I shall leave ye matter, and desire ye Lord to show him his errors and reduce him into ye way of truth, and give him a settled judgmente and constansie in the same, for I hope he belongs to ye Lord and yt he will shew him mercie."

It is probable that William Harris was with him at that time and may be one referred to in the foregoing, and possibly Thomas Harris also. A. H.

Thomas and William Harris, brothers came to Providence Plantation now state of Rhode Island, from the town of Deal, England. William came first in 1636. He remained with Roger Williams to build Providence, but a bitter controversy, a few years later with him, divided all the Plantations into factions, one for Harris, another for Williams, the question being as to a right to land in Pawtuxet, between Warwick and Providence. "Thomas and William had a sister it is said who married Thomas Roberts, and died childless at Newport, R. I."

"William Harris took oath of Allegiance to Charles II, May 31, 1666, at Providence, and eight years later was obliged to go to England to secure the interposition of the Crown as to the land controversy."—Col. Rec. 11, 586.

Roger Williams in letter says of Wm. Harris: "That prodigy of Pride, who, being an impudent morris dancer in Kent, under the cloak of jests against the bishop, go into flight to New England and with myself" etc.—Mass. Hist. Col. Vol. 4, Series 4.

"William Harris arrived in Salem in 1635, seems to be Attorney or Attorney's Clerk. Another place says he could not be read lawyer, except that he knew the statutes, but did not know common law except as he thought it out."—Vol. 13 or 14, R. I. Hist.

Extract from a letter written by Rev. Thaddeus Mason Harris of Dorchester, Mass., to Wm. J. Harris of Providence, R. I., Dec. 3, 1828.

"William and Thomas Harris, brothers, came to New England in ship 'Lyon,' Mr. Wm. Pierce, Master, in company with Rev. Roger Williams. They sailed from Bristol 1st Dec. 1630, and after a tempestuous voyage arrived at Nantasket on the 5th of Feb'y following. When Mr. Williams was expelled from Salem, William Harris, John Smith, Joshua Verrin (or Berrin), Francis Wicks and a lad, Thomas Angell, accompanied him. In the beginning of the summer 1636, they located at Providence.

Wm. Harris went twice to England on the affairs of the Province. Being about to go the third time, he made his will 11th Dec. 1678, then in his 68th year. He sailed on the ship "Unity," Wm. Condry, Master, and was taken by a Barbary Cruiser on the 24th July, 1679 and carried to Algiers, where, with the rest of the ship's crew, he was sold as a slave 24th Feb'y. After remaining in captivity more than a year he was redeemed. He travelled through Spain and France to London and arrived at the house of his friend, John Stokes, where, (by his letters from Algiers dated April 6, 1680, to his family) he had directed his papers to be sent.

His will was proved before Town Councill in Providence 20th Feb'y 1681. He left a widow and son Andrew, b. 1634-5, d. May 5th, 1686, m. Mary Tew; daughter Mary, m. Thos. Borden in 1663, daughter Howlong, who was 2d wife of Arthur Fenner, m. Dec. 1684, no children; son Toleration, b. 1645, killed by Indians in Philip's War 1675.

Andrew m. Mary, daughter of Richard Tew of Newport, Dec. 8 or 30, 1670. Children: Mary, b. Dec. 17, 1671, m. Edw. James Brown; Ann, b. Nov. 20, 1673; Andrew b. Feb. 14, 1677; Hope, b. Dec. 14, 1679; Prudence, b. June 21, 1682; Toleration, b. June 10, 1685, m. Sarah Foster and had one child; Anna, m. Christopher Harris (Thos. family)."

William Harris' letter, giving a sorrowful account of Roger Williams (to Capt. Dean), Nov. 14, 1666.

"Providence 14th of November, 1666.
Noble Minded Sir

I confess you have been basely dealt with but for my own part, I pray sir hear my reasonable excuse. As to the 140 lbs. and also to the powder—For the first I was rated to the 140 lbs. and the rest joined thereto in one and the same rate 7 lbs., which 7 lbs. I paid to Mr. Clark, at the time and place appointed, to Mr. Clark's Content and have his quitance to shew; and as to the powder etc. I had very little of it. I think about a pound and half thereof and shot answerable, and then at the rec't paid for it, afterwards Mr. Williams said the Return was cast away; At the same time in the open town Meeting I asked Mr. Williams if he might not see by his books and bills of Lading, what was cast away. Mr. Williams in answer to me called aloud to the neighbors in the said meeting and said thus; he calls me Rogue & Thief though I only spoke as I said, not as he said. Afterwards a rate was made to pay for the powder and shot again; and again I paid for it, but what is become of it I cannot tell, that I say as to the powder, but I do not yet believe, that Mr. Williams at that first time sent the full return, and have reasons for it. If you should object, you know him better etc. then I would answer. I know him longer and worse, and to prove it, this I say, that I have by me public record, and under Mr. Williams his own hand wherein he sayeth thus viz: As in the presence of the great and dreadful God & searcher of all hearts; and then he signs his testimony in that case; and about ten years after he gives the same averment again in the same words, absolutely opposite to his former testimony, and if you speak that which is not true, if you please let Mr. Williams know what I have wrote, that if he please he may answer to it by writing and be but pleased to let me have a copy of what he sayeth & I will reply and prove what I have said. Besides I have by me an Indictment of three sheets of paper, that Mr. Williams exhibited against me, wherein he accused me of High Treason, and in the same Indictment he sayeth there hath been 20 English gentlemen Executed at Tibern, that hath not done as much as Wm. Harris had done, also shews in Said Indictment, what dismembering & Unboweling there should be in such cases. I would have sent you the thing under his own hand, but that I'am not willing to lose it, as it may be by the way. He also wrote a book against me, as he said, of about a quire of paper, all the while willingly mistaking me and not at all touching the controversy that was between us in his whole discourse, but falsifying some Essential words, to the perverting the whole matter, when he had done he sent it to Sir Henry Vane, who charitably said he thought he was beside himself, and that he did willingly mistake Saying I was against all Government, it appears therefore before he Indicted me as for High Treason, he indicted me first for contempt of all Government, and I being demanded wheather Guilty or not Guilty. I answered not Guilty, and the Verdict of the jury was not Guilty. Yet afterward, Indict me upon his former ground for High Treason, as being against all Government, which falsely he said, in the Judgement of the jury. His difference and mine grew by reason of some simple Harmless people, that will not fight, nor swear, nor take an engagement to any gouvournour nor Government; for which cause Mr. Williams would have sent them to England, for which cause he Indicted them, therefore I wrote to him telling him of his former large profession of Liberty of Conscience etc. whereupon his great wrath and wickedness came forth and yet remains. I have not known, among men, a more wrathful, perfidious person, and have under his own hand to prove what I say. This unfaithful man when he writes revilingly of me, then he sets for his name R. W. and for my name W. H., within this few days he reviled me to Mr. Clark & the Governour here by the said letters W. H. Within this 14 days he came to a company of young men that had been training, but then were wrestling and one of the wrestlers was Mr. Williams' son, then said Mr. Williams, leave off boys play, take your swords, and I will be my sons second—some thought him drunk and others thought him mad; but whether or Either I leave to the sober beholders to judge, and as to the wrongs done me, as to those his false accusations, I forgive him without repentance, that he might the Rather truly repent, but I see to this day by a letter he wrote to Mr. Clark and another to the Governour, that he is as malicious as ever he was against me.

Sir, I pray mistate me not, I do not say or think his wickedness is such as God will not pardon, but is such as should be known and bare witness against, that he may not deceive, therefore necessary to be manifest. I have used all diligence I can to bring him to reformation, but he hates to be reformed. He and I did once refer the matter, in one part of our differences, but he would not stand to the award. Not as if I sought restitution, for my wrongs received, out of his estate, that I would scorn, but reformation of his manners that truth might appear, but, whether he reform or persist wrong, I ever profess to resist, in myself towards him and freely forgive his trespass against me as God forgiveth my trespass against himself, and beside the command so to do. I have seen the faithfulness of God, in my deliverance from the hands of men and his under minding my just rights, hath the more firmly established my true title (hitherto) and though he would have sold me and mine for naught, yet God hath made me a purchaser of his profit, peace and safety, and at my own Cost, by the Good Providence of God, to whose providence I commend all things, with reaching out of spirit to God, that he would be pleased to deliver, all that are oppressed, their wrongs, and in a special manner your self, Sir, and others though not named I have sent you a first and second Bill of £23, 10/Stg. in Two Several letters. I left the letters with one Mr. Barnerd who knows your Self. He is brother to Mr. Williams' wife, the said Mr. Barnerd, I requested and he promised he would put the said several letters into the hands of two trusty men, severally to be sent by two several Ships. I directed the letters as Mr. Clark directed one to Mr. Ostlen & Co., as this letter is directed. The sum is to be paid by Joseph Scott an Upholster living if Living, in Bartlemas, close near Smithfield. If the said bill come to you, I do not doubt payment thereof to your Self or your order, nothing else but prayers, farewell Yours Always “Newport 12th of the 1st mo. 1656 & 1657 so called.

William Harris."

Copy of Roger Williams' Warrant against Wm. Harris, 1656-7:

Whereas William Harris of Providence published to all the Towns in the Colony dangerous writings containing his notorious defiance to the authority of his highness the Lord Protector (&c) and the high Court of parliament of England. As also his notorious attempts to draw all the English subjects of Collony into a Traitorious renouncing of their allegiance and subjection & whereas the said William Harris now openly in the face of the Court declareth himself resolved to maintain the said writings with his blood; These are therefore in the name of his Highness the Lord Protector strictly to will & require you to apprehend the William Harris, and to keep him in Safe custody untill his appearance; before the General Assembly of the Collony in may next ensuing at Newport before which Assembly he is to be convicted and sent for England or acquitted according to Law of the Colony established amongst us: And you are also hereby authorized to take all due care that his Land & Estate be faithfully secured to the use of his Highness the Lord Protector in case of the conviction of the said William Harris in the General Assembly of the Colony as aforesaid, for the due performance of all which premises; all his Highness officers in this Colony both civil and Military and all Highnesses subjects in this Colony are hereby straightly required to be aiding and assisting as they will answer to the Contrary at their peril.

Roger Williams,
President.”

NOTE.—“At the next Election R. Williams was removed and Benedict Arnold was Chosen President or Gover. in 1657 & 6 and Williams was never after chosen President, tho he lived 26 years after, as appears by Backus's List of Officers Vol. 1st pg 531.”

“Copy of a Protest by Sixteen Proprietors of the town against Roger Williams, G. Dexter, and A. Fenner, against keeping up a difference with Pawtuxet men; Nov. 19, 1677.”

“These declare to all persons, that we whose names are hereunto subscribed, do lay no claims nor colour of claim to any of those lands, belonging to the proprietors of Pawtuxet, the which lands lying on the southern side of a line to be run upon an equal distance between Pawtuxet River and Wanasquatucket River, as high westward as our town orders make appear, and therefore maintain no difference with the said proprietors, but are, as we have been, ready to run the said line as our combination and Town order, in Justice binds us to do. And a protest against that act of choice of Mr. Roger Williams, Mr. Gregory Dexter, and Capt. Arthur Fenner, to plead in the towns behalf as maintaining a difference with the said proprietors about the aforesaid Lands, desiring that what damage soever may accrue by the said contention may be by this honourable court of commissioners placed upon those contending.

Providence, November the 19th, 1677.

George Way, his mark.	Joseph Jencks.
Andrew Harris.	Eperetus Olney.
John Whipple, Jr.	Samuel Whipple.
	Eleazer Whipple.

Unto all that is above written I subscribe not, but unto this I do subscribe viz: That I have no difference nor controversy with our neighbor, Wm. Harris about division of Lands, and therefore have neither chosen the men above mentioned nor no other to controvert with him.

Shadrach Martin.

To this latter I also subscribe,

Pardon Tillinghast.

To the much Honour'd his majesties Court of Commissioners Sittin at Providence."

THOMAS HARRIS,¹ b. in Deal, Kent Co., England, d. in Providence, Rhode Island, June 7th, 1686. He came to America with his brother William and Roger Williams in ship "Lyon" from Bristol, England, Dec. 1st, 1630, m. Elizabeth — who died in Providence, R. I.

On August 20th, 1637 (or a little later), he and twelve others signed the following compact: "We, whose names are hereunder, desirous to inhabit in the town of Providence, do promise to subject ourselves in active or passive obedience to all such orders or agreements as shall be made for public good of the body in an orderly way by the major assent of the present inhabitants, members of families incorporated together into a town of fellowship, and such others whom they shall admit unto themselves, only in civil things."

On July 27th, 1640 he and thirty-eight others signed an agreement for a form of government.

On Sept. 2nd, 1650 taxed £1.

In 1652, 1653, 1654, 1655, 1656, 1657, 1661, 1662 and 1663 he was Commissioner, in 1654, Lieutenant; 1655, Freeman; 1656, Juryman.

July 1658, from Bishop's "New England Judged" published in London in 1703.

"After those came Thomas Harris from Rhode Island into your Colony who Declaring against your Pride and Oppression, as he could have liberty to speak in your meeting place in Boston, after the priest had ended, Warning the people of the dreadful, terrible day of the Lord God, which was coming upon that Town and Country, him much unlike to Nineveh, you pulled down and hall'd him by the Hair of his Head out of your Meeting, and a hand was put on his Mouth to keep him from speaking forth, and then had before your Governor and Deputy, with other Magistrates, and committed to Prison without warrant or mittimus that he saw, and shut up in a close room, none suffered to come at him, nor to have Provisions for his money; and the next Day whipp'd with so cruel stripes without showing any Law that he had broken, tho' he desired it of the Jaylor, and then shut up again for Eleven Days more, Five of which he was kept without Bread (Your Jaylor not suffering him to have any for his Money, and threatened one of the other Prisoners very much for bringing him a little water on the Day of his sore whipping) and all this because he could not work for the Jaylor and let him have Eight Pence in Twelve Pence of what he should earn; And starved he had been in all probability, had not the Lord kept him those Five Days, and ordered it so after that time that Food was conveyed him by Night in at a Window, by some tender People who tho they came not into the Profession of Truth openly, by reason of your Cruelty, yet felt it secretly moving in them and so were made Serviceable to keep the Servants of the Lord from Perishing, who shall not go without a Reward. And tho' he was in this State of Weakness for want of Bread, and by Torturing his Body with cruel Whippings, as aforesaid, and tho' the Day after he was whipped, the Jaylor had told him that he now had suffered the Law, and that if he would Hire the Marshall to carry him out of the Country, he might be gone when he would; yet the next Sixth Day in the Morning before the Sixth Hour, the Jaylor again required him to work, which he refusing, gave his weak and fainty Body Two and Twenty Blows with a pitch'd rope; and the Nineteenth of the Fifth Month following, Fifteen cruel stripes more with a three-fold-corded whip knotted as aforesaid.

Now upon his Apprehension, your Governor sought to know of him, who came with him, (as was your usual manner) that so you might find out the rest of the Company, on whom ye might Execute your Cruelty and Wick-edness, and your Governor said He would make him do it, but his Cruelties could not. Nevertheless they soon were found out (who hid not themselves but were bold in the Lord) viz. William Brend and William Leddra etc."

In 1664, 1666, 1667, 1670, 1672, 1673, he was Deputy to General Court; in 1664, 1665, 1666, 1669, Member of Town Council; on February 19, 1665, he drew lot 7 in division of lands.

May 1667, he, as surveyor, laid out lands.

August 14, 1676, he was on a committee that recommended certain conditions under which the Indian captives should be disposed of by the town. They were to be in servitude for term of years.

April 27, 1683, he made the statement that about 1661, being then a surveyor, he laid out a three score acre lot for his son, Thomas, at Paugachange Hill, and a 25 acre lot on the south side, etc.

June 3, 1686, he made his will, proved July 22, 1686. Executor, son Thomas. Overseers, son-in-law Thomas Field and Samuel Whipple.

Children of Thomas¹ and Elizabeth (—) Harris: Thomas,² b. —, d. Feb. 27, 1711; Mary,² b. —, 1639, d. Dec. 14, 1722, m. Samuel Whipple and had 5 children; Martha,² b. —, d. —, 1717, m. Thomas Field and had 6 children.

THOMAS,² son of THOMAS,¹ m. Nov. 3, 1664, Elnathan Tew, b. Oct. 15, 1664, d. Jan. 11, 1718, daughter of Richard and Mary (Clarke) Tew of Newport, R. I., and always lived in Providence, R. I.

February 19, 1665, he had lot 49 in a division of lands. July 1, 1679, taxed £8, 9 d.

In 1671, 1679, 1680, 1681, 1682, 1685, 1691, 1694, 1697, 1702, 1706, 1707, 1708, 1710, Deputy to General Court; 1684, 1685, 1686, Member of Town Council; Sept. 1, 1687. Taxed 14 s, 9 d. Will proved April 16, 1711. Executors, wife Elnathan, and son Henry.

H., Feb. 17, 1816, settled in Medway, Mass., a carpenter by trade. Nine children: Hannah,⁶ b. April 7, 175—, m. Mr. Ingalls, she was living and wrote to her mother in Packersfield in 1812; Mehetabel Meloda,⁶ b. Dec. 6, 1755, d. April 10, 1790, m. Roswell Parish, settled in Canterbury, Conn., both were living there in Feb. 1786; Rebeckah,⁶ b. Sept. 14, 1757, m. Reuben Ransom, settled in Panton, Vt., near Vergennes, and both were living there in Oct. 1792; Erastus, Jr.,⁶ b. Oct. 15, 176—, d. Mar. 30 or 31, 1764; William Adams,⁶ b. Nov. 14, 1761, d. May 29, 1792; Jason,⁶ b. April 13, 176—, settled in Packersfield, N. H., and died there; Reuben,⁶ b. April 16, 17—; Bethuel,⁶ b. Aug. 14, 1769, d. July 21, 1851; Margy,⁶ b. Jan. 11, 1773.

In 1759, Erastus Harris⁵ enlisted in a regiment of foot raised in the vicinity of Worcester, Brookfield and Spencer, Mass., for one year in "His Majesty's Service" and commanded by Col. Frye, and for that time was stationed at Fort Cumberland in Acadia, Nova Scotia, in the latter part of the French and Indian War, and after the expulsion of the Acadians from Nova Scotia. It is probable that he was a non-commissioned officer. He purchased at Fort Cumberland, in January, 1760, a bound blank book, in which he kept copies of the daily reports of his company for the time the regiment was in the service, beginning in December, 1759. In the Revolutionary War he was an orderly sergeant of a company in the American army, in a regiment stationed in Cambridge and Boston, and kept copies of company reports in the same book. The book is now in a good state of preservation, and in the possession of Joseph K. Russell, Massillon, O., as custodian for its safe keeping for the Harris descendants.

Soon after, or about the time of the close of the Revolutionary War, Mr. Harris settled on land in Packersfield, N. H., near where the village of Harrisville now is, where he continued to reside until he died in 1806. His son Jason came to the same locality in Packersfield at an early date and built a blacksmith and trip hammer shop on or near the site where now stands the machine shop built and operated by Calmer Harris, now owned by Cheshire Mills, and used as a repair shop for its woolen factories which it adjoins. Later he removed to the west part of the town of Packersfield near the Roxbury town line and carried on a blacksmithing business for a number of years, and later removed to Packersfield Center where his son Jason, Jr., had built up an extensive business in blacksmithing, and resided there until he died.

BETHUEL HARRIS,⁶ came to Packersfield, N. H., from Medway, Mass., at an early date, but several years after his father came, and settled on a farm, and soon after married, and had ten children before leaving the farm. In 1819 he built a brick house on the line between Nelson (Packersfield) and Dublin, in which he continued to reside until he died in 1851. Some years after he built the brick house, five of his sons, Cyrus, Milan, Almon, Charles and Lovell, and one son-in-law, Abner S. Hutchinson, built homes for themselves in the immediate vicinity, all but one of brick, and on the Nelson side; that built by Lovell was of wood and on the Dublin side.*

Bethuel Harris became interested at an early time in the wool carding and cloth dressing industry, and as there was a fine water power near where he lived, he, together with some others became instrumental in building and operating successfully a business of that kind, thus forming a nucleus for a larger growth. In 1823, Bethuel Harris and his son Cyrus built the factory afterwards known as the "Middle Mill," for carding wool and dressing cloth. As soon as it was completed, Milan Harris put in machinery, including power looms (the first ones started in Harrisville) for manufacturing woolen cloth which was dressed by B. & C. Harris. Subsequently a company was formed consisting of Bethuel Harris and his sons Cyrus and Milan. This company was dissolved in 1832, Milan leaving the same. To his energy, the assistance and encouragement he gave to his immediate family is to be credited the fact that Harrisville became a center for woolen manufacturing for this part of New England at that time.

*The town of Nelson was first named Monadnock No. 6, afterwards incorporated Feb. 22, 1774, Packersfield, after a Mr. Packer who owned a large part of the land in the town. Still later incorporated in 1814, Nelson. The village of Harrisville was situated on the dividing line between Nelson and Dublin. The first P. O. was named Harrisville, after Bethuel Harris and his family, who constituted a large part of the resident population at that time. Nearly all of the residents of the name of Harris lived on the Nelson side, while all of the manufacturing business was on the Dublin side. The town of Harrisville was incorporated July 2d, 1870, and is about six miles long by four miles wide, consisting wholly of land taken from Nelson and Dublin.
